

New Feature for Opinion/Nonprecedential Dispositive Order RSS Feed

So that subscribers may choose to receive published opinions only, we have provided an option which allows you to subscribe to the opinions RSS feed and select to receive only the published opinions. This option now appears under the RSS choices that can be made and looks like this:

Opinions only: or include nonprecedential dispositive orders as well.

By default in this new option, the selection is to include only the published opinions.

If you wish to convert your current RSS subscription to this preference, please unsubscribe to the original opinions RSS feed and re-subscribe with the preference to receive only opinions selected.

If you are satisfied with the current RSS feed which includes the nonprecedential dispositive orders, you need do nothing.
